History Repeats — Another Oil Boom
Scramble for Good Roads Is Vital

Twenty-one years ago Arkansas had its first oil strike at El Dorado. What followed there should guide our own city, now confronted by an oil boom since Barnsdall brought in its Bond No. 1 as a big-time gusher. Following the El Dorado discovery there was a mad scramble for good roads connecting El Dorado and Camden with the field — and there will be the same scramble here.

American Army Forces Land in North Ireland

Size of Force and Other Details Withheld by War Department

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The arrival of American forces in northern Ireland was announced Monday by Secretary Stimson.

Major General Russell P. Hartle is in command, it was announced, but the size of the force and other details were withheld.

Specifically withheld were the designation of units, composition, strength, ports of embarkation and the date of sailing.

The force was the first to reach Britain since the war started aside from groups of technicians.

The text of the communiqué, number 77 was:

"Northern Ireland"—The Secretary of War announced Monday the arrival in northern Ireland of U. S. army forces under the command of Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle.

"Secretary of War Stimson declined to make public the designation of units nor would he mention the ports of embarkation, dates of sailing, or other details of the movement from the U. S."

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

General Hartle, 52, recently was commander of the 34th Infantry Division at Camp Calhoun, La., and is among the youngest officers to hold a major general rank.

His army service of more than 20 years includes service in France, the Philippines and Puerto Rico. He is a native of Cheshville, Maryland, and in 1910 graduated from the University of Maryland.

Cranium Crackers

U. S. Possessions
American troops are battling at the outposts of a chain of U. S. possessions reaching half way around the world. Never empire-minded, the U. S. has built up this group of territories through a number of purchases and other means of acquisition.

1. From what nations did the U. S. buy Alaska and the Virgin Islands? Which cost the most?

2. Were the Hawaiian Islands, which became a territory in 1898, acquired as a result of the peace treaty after war with Spain?

3. In what years and how were the islands of Midway, Wake and Guam added to U. S. possessions?

4. Swains Island, annexed in 1856, is one of latest U. S. territorial acquisitions. Where is it?

5. For how long does the U. S. hold the Canal Zone under treaty with Panama?

Mayor Graves to Push Construction at Once; Needed by Summer

Final approval under the National Defense program of a $65,000 extension of the Hope municipal water plant was announced Monday in telegrams from Washington by Senator Hattie W. Caraway and Congressman Owen Harris, and by Senator Lloyd Spencer, who is here in the city.

The project is a grant of $45,000 and a loan of $20,000, and calls for the addition to the local system of a deep well and pump, a concrete surface reservoir and pump, and extensions to the distribution system.

Senator Caraway sent a telegram to Mayor Albert Graves, and Congressman Harris telegraphed the mayor and The Star.

Mayor Graves said construction was proposed to start immediately, as the city will need the additional water supply this coming summer. Final approval of the project concluded many months of planning by the mayor and city council, ever since the increasing population of Hope ran the local water supply close to the safety margin last summer.

Mayor Graves was in Washington four days during November, and was assisted by Senator Lloyd Spencer in arranging final conferences with federal agencies handling the project.

This is the first of three local projects to be wholly approved. Recently the federal government approved $18,000 for extensions to the local sewer mains, but the remainder of this project, a sewage disposal plant is still pending.

The third project, an application for $365,000 for a new Julia Chester hospital building, remains to be finally passed upon. Information here is that the amount was slashed to $100,000 by the Kansas City federal office, but part of the cut was later restored when the project matter was referred to Washington, where final action remains to be taken.

Federal Works Announcement

U. S. Ship Sunk Off East Coast 22 Feared Lost

Axis Subs Sink Six Ships in Atlantic Within Two Weeks

NORFOLK, Va.—(AP)—An Axis underwater raider attacked the American ore carrier Venable off the North Carolina coast late Friday and 22 members of the crew are unaccounted for, the Fifth District naval post announced Monday.

Twenty-one members of the crew were brought ashore Sunday night at Norfolk.

The 8,016-ton carrier owned by the Ore Steamship company, was hit at least twice by torpedoes and sank early Saturday morning.

Crew members said the submarine fired one shell at the ship which struck at about midship on the port side. A few minutes later another struck into the port side.

Three lifeboats were launched, one containing 21 men who picked up 31 hours later.

This was the sixth vessel officially reported sunk by enemy submarines on the Atlantic seaboard during the past two weeks. A seventh vessel attacked was only damaged.

Hope Theaters Collect $125 Toward Goal of $250

The Saenger and Rialto theaters have collected $125 thus far toward their quota of $250 in the national theater campaign to aid sufferers from infantile paralysis, Manager Remmel announced Monday.

M. A. Lightman, president of Malco Theaters, Inc., is chairman of the theater campaign in Arkansas, which is part of the campaign being conducted by 10,000 theaters throughout the nation.

Collections are made twice daily in the local theaters by Boy Scouts.

The theater appeal is in the form of a "address from the screen" by Clark Gable, effectively delivered by the country's most popular adult actor.

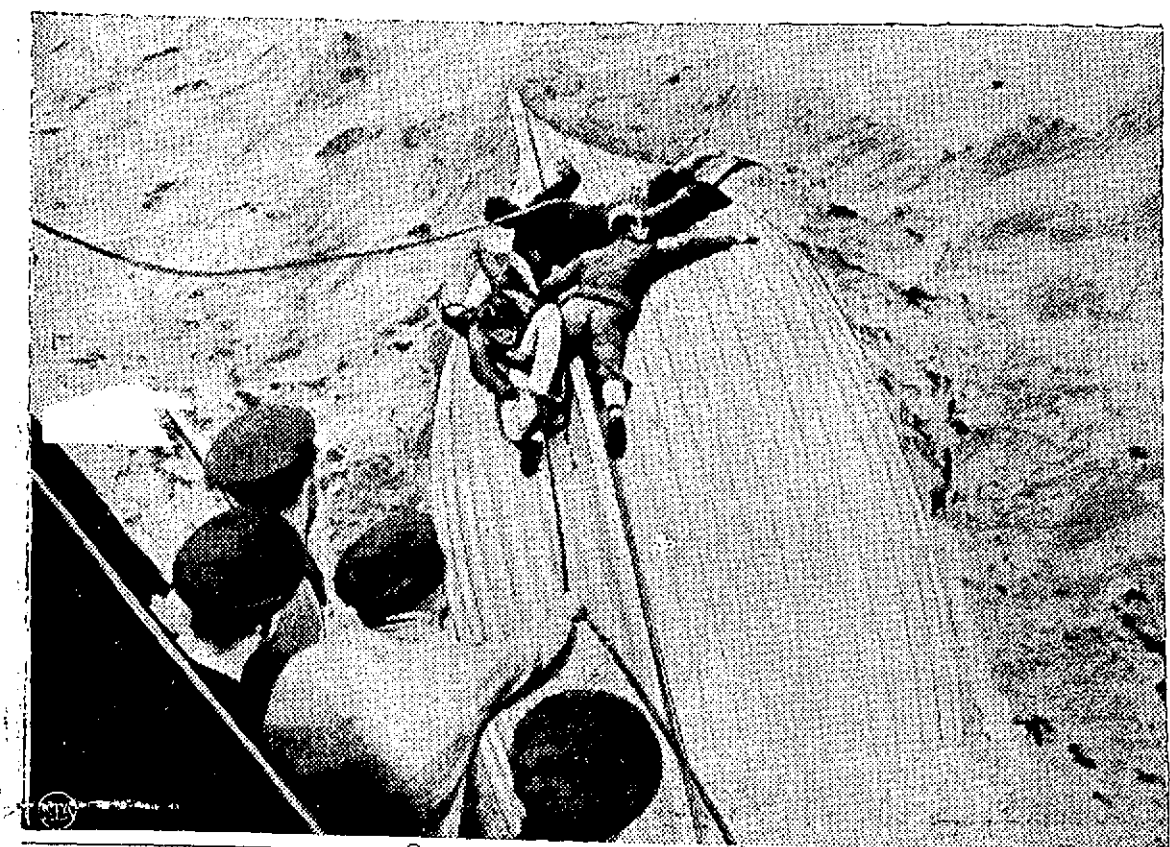

Terrell Cornelius is chairman of the general Hempstead county campaign for the paralysis relief fund, annually conducted on the eve of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's birthday, the last of this month.

Report Made on Hawaii Attack

Neglect of Duty Charged Against Officials

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON—Two Senators who had criticized some phases of the lend-lease policy on the ground that war material sent abroad was needed for United States defense raised the question Sunday night whether the Roberts Commission's report on the Pearl Harbor attack did not vindicate their stand.

The report by the five-man board of inquiry headed by Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the Supreme Court also touched off congressional demands for a unified command of land, sea and air forces and punishment of those responsible for the disaster.

Chairman Walsh (Conn., Mass.) of the Senate Naval Committee said it appeared from the report that both Secretaries Stimson and Knox "feared" on December 7 and that "in view of their apprehensions" these inquiries present themselves:

"First: What steps were taken to increase and strengthen the army, the navy and the air force at Hawaii and in the Pacific after January, 1941.

"Second: Is it a fact that the opposite course was taken, and ships were actually moved from the Pacific to the Atlantic and that practically no increase were made in the army and Air Corps defenses."

"It would appear in the absence of any facts to the contrary that nothing was done to change the situation in the Pacific," Walsh's statement continued. "If the army and the navy had been materially strengthened during this time, it might not necessarily have prevented the dereliction of duty that the board finds, but it would have given notice to the army and navy that the government at Washington was preparing a strong determined fighting defense."

The report, made public by President Roosevelt Saturday night, said there was "dereliction of duty" on the part of Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short and Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, commanders of the two services in the Hawaiian area when the Japanese struck on the morning of December 7.

The two officers, the commission said, failed to confer on advice and warnings from Washington that war was imminent and an air raid probable as the opening move.

William A. Bishop, Canadian air marshal, brought down 72 enemy planes in the first World war.

The United States Navy was the first in the world to experiment with floating flying fields.

Axis in Threat to Bengasi

Counter Offensive Pushes British Back 145 Miles

By The Associated Press
Bengasi in North Africa again was threatened Monday by Axis forces which had developed their reconnoissance in force of last week into a full scale offensive.

The British admitted the main battle now was in the Zouiet Msus area which meant they had been driven back 40 miles since Sunday and 145 miles from the westernmost point from El Agaila.

Zouiet Msus is only about 70 miles southeast of Bengasi which the British captured on Christmas Day in the second Libyan offensive.

That the Axis itself was somewhat puzzled by their own successes was indicated by a spokesman in Rome. He spoke of the Axis improvised counter attack and said it was not quite clear what happened to the powerful British army.

The Italian communiqué claimed huge losses inflicted on the British including the destruction or capture of 239 tanks and armored cars and 158 guns.

It was evident that the Germans and Italians are rushing heavy reinforcements and that the British may be in for an even more difficult time. The Axis announced the arrival of another important convoy at Tripoli despite heavy British bombing and torpedo attacks which were acknowledged to have sunk one large liner.

A Frenchman, Leon Scott, made an unsuccessful attempt to record sound in 1855, 22 years before Thomas Edison's experiments succeeded.

Japs Engaged in New Britain

Civilians Removed as Australians Fight Invaders

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Civilians were removed Monday from the cities of New Guinea and in the heart of the Solomon Islands as jungle trained Australian militia battled invasion forces in the hills of New Britain and New Island and the Japanese hurled new landing forces into the arc of the island protecting this continent.

The broadening of Japanese operations covered a broken front extending almost 1,000 miles from New Guinea east of the Florida Islands.

While militia men fought a delaying action the cabinet ordered full mobilization of fighting and working manpower. All up to 60 were required to register and the enrollment of women was expected to follow.

With the Japanese gaining bases within striking distance of the mainland bomb disposal squads were being formed in Australian cities and steps taken to extend the present black out to all coastal communities.

Army minister Francis Forde announced that civilians were being taken from bombed Madang in New Guinea and Tulagi to the Florida Islands and the Solomons.

Civilians were removed from the New Guinea town of Lae during the weekend.

There was no immediate indication whether the evacuation was prompted by fear of future bombings or indicated Australia's preparation to stand off expected Japanese landing attempts.)

Australia militia, in action for the first time in history, was largely hushmen from Victoria, long trained for fighting in the jungles of the mainland and New Guinea.

Reports reaching here indicated they were holding out in a hard fighting stand in the hills south of Rabaul at the northern end of New Britain, roughly 400 miles east of Madang.

Japanese who landed there from 11 transports were estimated to number 10,000.

Other Japanese forces were ashore on New Island northeast of New Britain after landing last week near Kavi.

Deep sea divers of the U. S. Navy have attained depth of more than 500 feet.

Action Probably Halted Attempt to Invade Java

Four-Day Running Battle in Macassar Straits Won by Allies

By The Associated Press
U. S. and Dutch sea and air forces locked in a great running battle with the Japanese invasion armies in the straits of Macassar has sunk or damaged at least 30 and perhaps 33 transports and warships in the four days of fighting and may have shattered an attempt to invade Java, the heart of the united nation's defense in the southwest Pacific.

The next few days will tell in what strength, if any, the Japanese armada will be able to negotiate a narrow shortcut to the inner arc of the Netherlands East Indies.

Japs Gain Foothold
Japan, however, won at least one foothold on the sea road to Java—Dutch oil port of Balikpapan on the straight side of the island of Borneo but the size of the invasion fleet indicated Tokyo was shooting for higher stakes to the south.

The Strait of Macassar is the most direct route between the Japanese points in the Philippines and the rich island of Java on which the United Nations have centered supreme command and much of its armed strength.

Scoerabaja, great Dutch naval base, lies less than 350 miles southwest of the southern mouth of the strait.

10 Actually Sunk
The score against the Japanese in the straits battle as thus far reported in communiques from Java headquarters and Washington follows:

Sunk, nine transports and one destroyer, probably sunk 6 transports. Damaged, (excluding probable sinkings), a warship, unclassified as to type: five cruisers, two destroyers and nine transports.

The damaged ships hit by bombs or torpedoes include at least five transports probably sunk and a cruiser which may have gone down.

The battle started on Thursday afternoon when Dutch airmen scored 12 direct hits with heavy and medium calibre bombs on eight ships.

U. S. naval and air forces joined in the attack the following day in the hot equatorial waters of the strait, churned by bombs from light and heavy bombing planes, destroyers, cruisers and submarines.

Slight damage to one U. S. warship only was acknowledged so far as the cost of the attack.

The losses inflicted on the Japanese were the heaviest of any counter action since the Japanese launched their grand offensive in the southwestern Pacific region on December 7.

Party Giving Is on the Wane

Hope has settled into a very quiet routine socially with only spasmodic parties, or days of party-giving and then not on a very large scale. The women are too busy with other things. Only the clubs are left to save the days socially.

Since everyone has been trying to get special assignments for Red Cross work after the first news of war, parties are of secondary consideration, but always are welcome when they are given.

America is at war.
In the "Volunteer", national Red Cross publication, the national director of Volunteer Service, Pauline Sabin Davis, urges all women to remember the old adage that "Men Must Work and Women Must Weep" no longer holds good, and if some American women must weep they will be working too.

We are all urged to be generous and to work for there is plenty to be given and to do. If you do not have time to train for Nurse's Aide, Staff Assistance, Home Service, Gray Lady, Canteen or Motor Corps, you can knit, sew, or make surgical dressings. As leadership comes from within, not from an insignia, don't worry whether or not you have a badge denoting your particular job.

Did you know that women are among our foremost word makers? I use as my authority Dr. Charles E. Funk, the famed lexicographer, who recently stated that women coin more words than any other group. Among the new words appearing in the most recent editions of the dictionaries will be "brunch," "hair-do," "supermarket," "taupe," "lipstick," "beautician," "dirdl" and "glissed." "Brunch" is a combination breakfast and luncheon, while "hair-do" and "supermarket" are self-explanatory. Fashion experts will tell you that "taupe" is a new grey-purple shade. "Lipstick" and "beautician" are natural outgrowths, and "dirdl" is a fashion style.

Members of the younger generation are responsible for the following 1942 additions: "goon," "jam session," "jive," "pantywaist," "wacky," and "zombie." "Strip tease" will also be a legitimate phrase when the new dictionaries are published.

So, you see, the lexicographers do not "put" words into the dictionary. The people do.

"Fugue Forms" Is Subject of Study At Friday Music Club Meeting
Meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. Carlton Friday afternoon, members of the Friday Music club heard an interesting study on "Fugue Forms" presented by Mrs. Eugene White.

In explaining rounds Mrs. J. E. Hinnell, Mrs. B. W. Edwards, and Mrs. White sang "Chorus." Mrs. Carlton rendered a piano selection of "Fugue" by Bach and Mrs. Edwin Hankins played Beethoven's "Sonata." Mrs. Edwin Stewart and Mrs. Basil York played a piano duo of a Brahms selection. "Venetian Love Song" by Nevin was played by Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Carlton.

TAMBAY GOLD

By SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

WELLIVER VS. BALESTIER

CHAPTER XIX

"LOOK, Doc," I said, thinking about the trouble with Maurie. "This is a rough world we're living in. You and I are going to have a little target practice out back."

Well, Doc was a natural with a pistol. In a week he could nick a four-bit piece at 30 yards.

Angel wasn't around so much, these days. After the Harstrom slump, the team settled down to work and showed something. The betting on the Balestier game went back to evens, but I had my little fifty down at five to seven, and Angel got four hundred for Juddy's three.

Reservations at Tambay Camp began coming in early for the week-end of the big game. Then one morning a couple of young fellows with rods and chains came in and ordered eggs, cukes and sausage.

"What goes on, boys?" I asked, after I'd served them.

"State survey. The new bridge," "What d'you mean, the new bridge? That's to cross half a mile downstream."

"Nothing's settled," one of them said. "But there's some talk that this would be a better place."

Curtains for Tambay. That's what it meant, if true. I could smell a smell of Mowry about this.

With only a week to go before the Balestier game, a pair of barriers sprouted right up out of the earth overnight, a mile on each side of us, and detoured our traffic.

"Road Closed for Temporary Repairs. That was the reading matter. Repairs, my foot! I got the ax and tossed those barriers into the ditch. Then they got me and tossed me into Brandon jail. After a while Sheriff Mowry came around and passed me out.

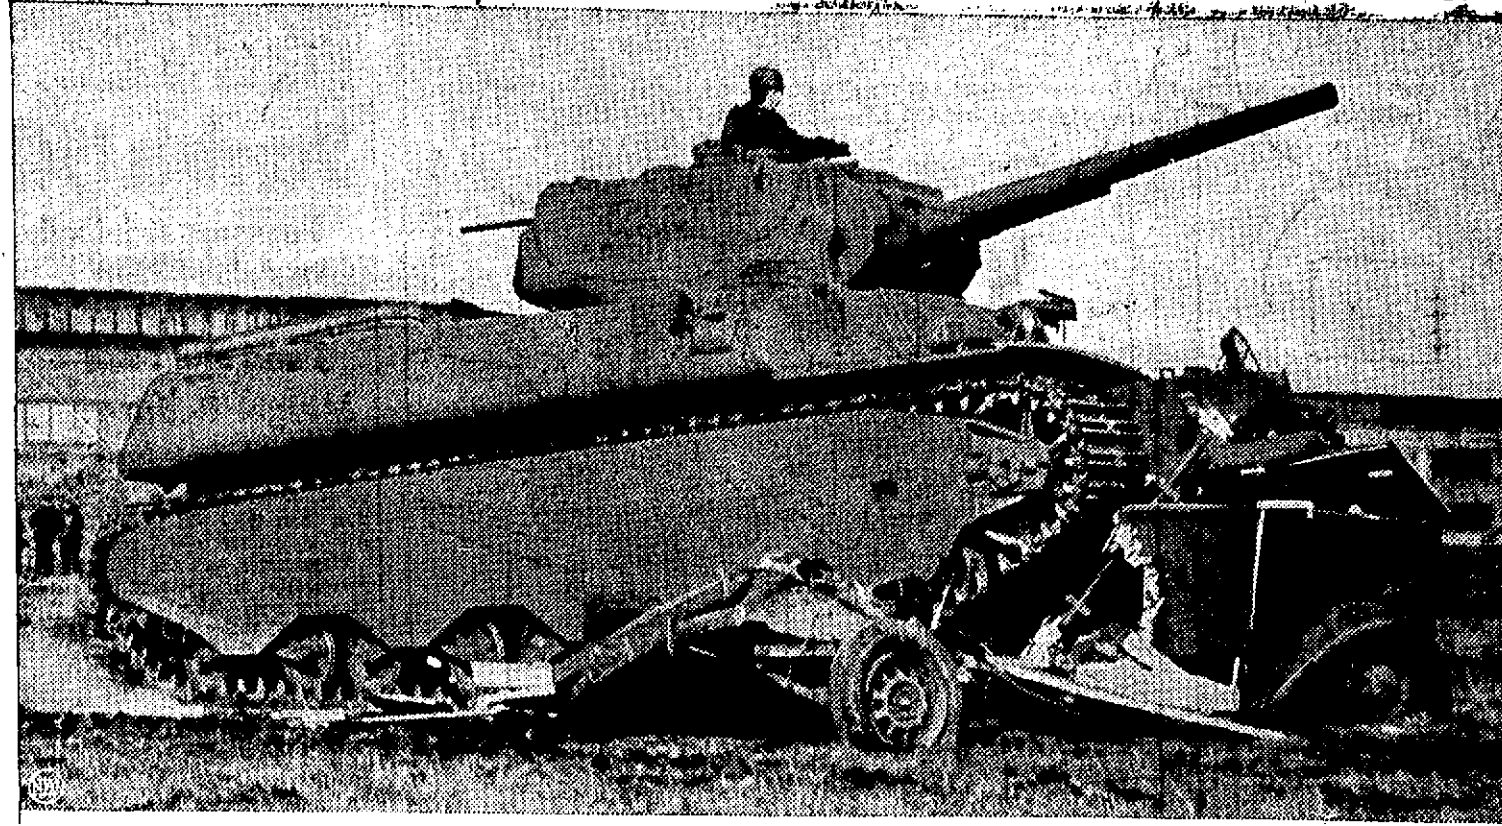

"I wouldn't have had this happen for a million dollars, m'am," he said, solemn as a hool-owl.

"Is that your price now?" I said. "You've gone up. But we could talk."

"You'll always find me reasonable."

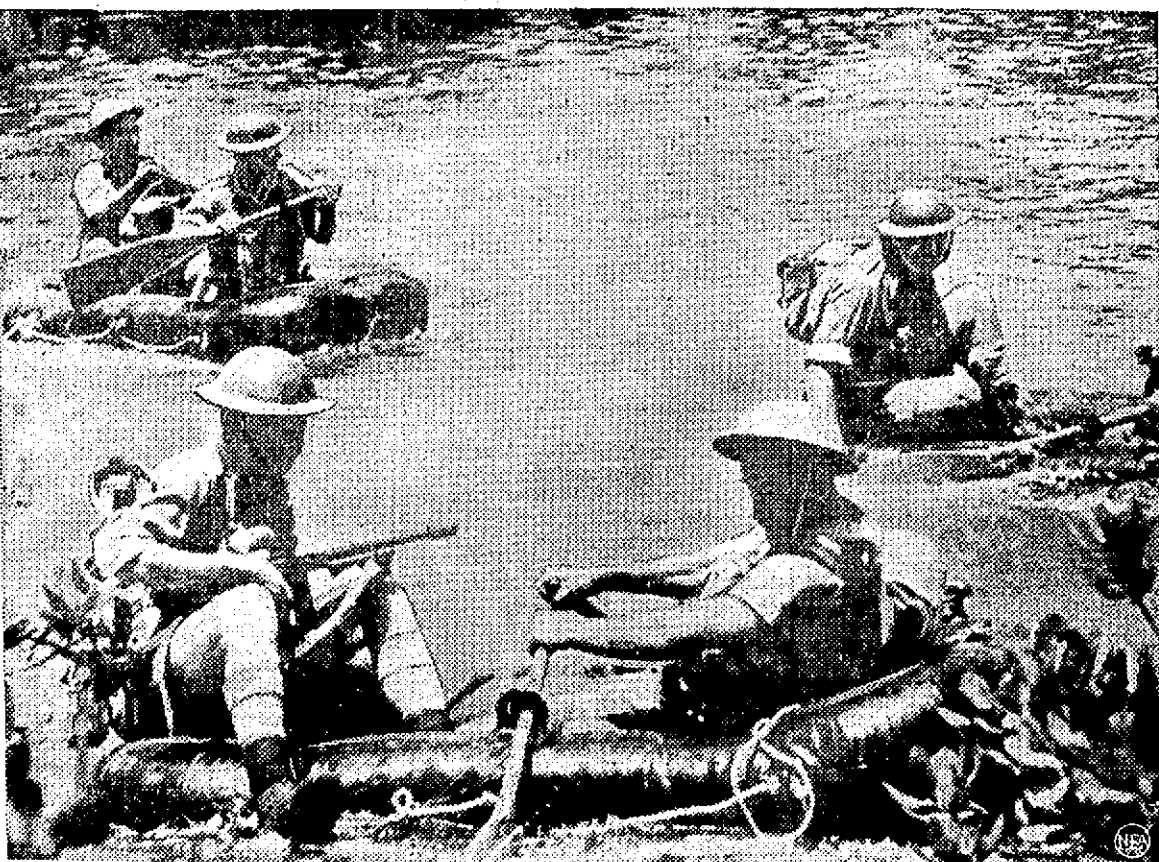

Well, I wouldn't say but what a hundred dollars was reasonable enough for calling off the detour fill after the big game. But that was no guarantee that eventually the bridge wouldn't put us out of business. I could guess Mowry's price for that; the 25 per cent out of the mining rights. I'd found out that the head of the Highway Department was his brother-in-law. He certainly held good cards.

Seek Shipyard Workers Here

California Company Would Train Local Men

G. W. Swift and L. Beger will be in Hope for several days for the purpose of selecting men who can qualify for training in shipyard work. About 220 men have qualified from Arkansas and Texas recently and are now holding down jobs in west coast shipyards.

Applicants must be American citizens, white, ages from 18 to 60, mechanically inclined, in fairly good health and not addicted to drinking. Experience is not necessary. Accepted men must finance themselves through the six weeks of training necessary to enable them to go to work immediately, starting at $12 per hour.

"With billions of dollars of government contracts, the shipbuilding industry offers workers not only steady employment for many years to come, but affords unlimited opportunities for quick advancement. Because of the acute shortage of skilled men in all phases of shipyard work, ambitious employees may take additional training in mechanics, drafting, engineering, etc., without cost to prepare themselves for promotion," Swift said.

Swift, direct representative of the California Welding Institute, the National Schools, and Shipyard Training Schools, all of Los Angeles, may be reached at Barlow Hotel, Monday and Tuesday only at 9 a. m., noon, 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Library Notes

Are you interested in learning more about your southern neighbors? Now the American people's interest has turned to the countries South of the United States.

Several of the best books about Latin America have been added this week to the shelves of the Hempstead County Library.

"Meet the South American" by Carl Crow withdrawing by Oscar Ogg is the colorful life of twenty countries as seen through the eyes of a trained observer. Discusses the problem of Nazi propaganda, describes some of the industries and comments on the export situation as it affects the United States, touches on religion, education, transportation, politics, social conventions, and a score of other topics.

Brazil; land of the future by Stefan Zweig is the account of six months' visit of the author to Brazil in 1940.

A brief sketch of the history, economy, and culture of Brazil consumes more than half the book, which closes with the author's impressions of modern Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, and Bahia.

"The Fugate of South America History" by Anne Merriman Peck begins with the ancient civilization of primitive South America to our present-day dream of a Pan-America. Vivid, compact and accurate, the flow of the story is fascinating and the pictures painted are warm and charged with color.

"Brazil in capitals" by Vera Kelsey pictures these cities which are the sum of the life and interest in Brazil today—historical, economic, political, cultural, social. Contrary to popular opinion, Rio de Janeiro is not typical of life in Brazil any more than New York City is typical of life in the United States. Brazil has not one capital city but many, forming a golden necklace along her 5000 mile coast.

"Inside Latin America" by John Gunther is today's best seller. From Mexico through Central and South America, John Gunther explains the policies, problems, leaders, peoples of all the twenty Latin-American countries, and how each affects the world and ourselves.

Fire Destroys 14 Airplanes

Hanger Also Burns at Dallas Aviation School

DALLAS (AP)—Fire destroyed fourteen airplanes and a hanger at a Dallas aviation school early Monday morning.

Major Bill Long, operator of the school, attributed the blaze to a short circuit and established the loss at between $175,000 and $200,000.

A workman was repairing a plane at the time the fire started. Eight of the ships were training craft and the remaining private planes, including one $25,000 ship.

The owner of a cheap watch took it to a jeweler to see what could be done for it.

Dry Beans One Solution to Rising Prices

Cheap Product Has Great Food Value Home Agent Asserts

A boon to homemakers seeking to keep the family well fed and the household budget balanced in the face of rising prices is dry beans, says Miss Fletcher county home demonstration agent.

Dry beans are a low-cost food in which a lot of food value is consolidated, according to Miss Fletcher. Dry beans, which are inexpensive energy foods, contain proteins of fair nutritive quality and rate high as a source of the important mineral iron—the "meat" vitamin B1, the county home demonstration agent says.

For these good reasons, Miss Fletcher, says, dry beans, dry peas, or pinto beans are highly recommended by Miss Mary E. Laughead, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, as frequent items on the weekly menu.

As far as cooking is concerned, the Extension specialist in foods and nutrition says, dry beans may be treated pretty much alike. Although a recipe may call for one type of bean usually most any other variety may be substituted.

Rules for successful bean cookery are simple, Miss Laughead says. They are: Soak beans before cooking—overnight or at least 5 or 6 hours. To get the most food value from beans, use the water in which they are soaked to cook them. Use soft water if possible, because hard water toughens the bean skins. Never use soda to cook beans. This destroys the valuable vitamin B1. Cook beans slowly. On top of the stove, simmer instead of boiling. For baked beans, use a slow oven (around 250 degrees F.). Watch them carefully as they cook and keep adding more liquid.

Season beans with something salty, sour, fresh, crisp, or bright and spicy. Beans are bland and therefore combine well with crisp bacon, ham knuckle, salt pork, chili, a dash of lemon juice, onion, or tomatoes.

At the recent cooking schools over the county baked beans was one of the popular dishes—the recipe found in "Preparation of Staple Foods for the Table" by Mary E. Laughead, Agricultural Extension Service of Arkansas.

Rotary Speaker

The first speaker, Gerhart H. Seger of New York City, of the "Institute of Understanding," sponsored by the Rotary Club will be here Tuesday night. He will speak at the City Hall Auditorium at 7:30. Mr. Seger is an author, editor, and lecturer and a former member of the German Reichstag and its committee on foreign relations. In March of 1933, within a week after his re-election to the Reichstag, he was taken into "protective custody" by the Nazis and spent three months in jail, and then six months in the first Nazi concentration camp at Oranienburg near Berlin. Late in 1933 he escaped from there to Czechoslovakia. In 1934 he came to the United States, where he has taken out his first papers to become an American citizen. His numerous writings and addresses during the past few years show him to have a clear understanding of the movement of events, not only in Europe, but around the world. Tickets are a dollar for the entire series and can be bought from any Rotary member.

Farm Commodity Prices to Rise Sharply in 1942

Farmers Advised to Adopt Plan That Will Provide Food and Feed Midget Reduces

Hempstead county farmers will pay considerably more in 1942 for services and commodities used in production than they did in 1941, Oliver L. Adams, county agent, reports.

Wage rates and the prices paid for practically all commodities used by farmers rose sharply during the last quarter of 1941 and, according to Ross Mauney of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, they are expected to continue upward in 1942.

The largest prospective increases in price paid by farmers are for feed, seed, trucks, tractors, automobiles, building material, and containers, the extension economist said. Moderate advances are expected in the price of fertilizer, gas, oil, and taxes.

Many farm laborers have found employment in defense projects and in industry, and more will leave farms during 1942. In view of this, it appears that farm operators will have to pay considerably higher wage rates than was paid in 1941 in order to hold workers on the farm.

In order to hold production cost as low as possible, Mauney advised farmers to adopt a well-balanced farm plan that will provide an adequate supply of food and feed. Sufficient livestock should be kept to utilize all pasture and forage crops. Farm machinery and buildings should be repaired if possible, instead of purchasing or building new ones.

In making the 1942 farm plan, he suggested farmers pay special attention to the labor requirements of the various crops, for wage rates will be higher and it is possible that a serious shortage of labor will occur in some sections. If possible, he said, select crops and enterprises that tend to spread the labor requirements throughout the year in order to utilize the home labor supply more efficiently.

Dogs' Dogs Dogged By Salty Pavements

NEW YORK--(AP)--Dogs got sore feet, their owners said, when sanitation crews covered icy streets with salt to help remove snow and ice. Officials said salt-spreading started again about six years ago after having been stopped because it irritated horses' hooves. And they admitted complaints come from dog owners every year. This time veterinarians advised dog owners to wash the pet's paws after a walk on salty streets and then apply oil to the tender toes.

Stories in Stamps

Mexican Stamp Honors Athletic Competition

WORLD WAR has no room for sportsmanship and the Olympic games, typical of the athletic rivalry of nations at peace, are indefinitely suspended. Mexico's youth, however, finds time to play.

The stamp above, issued in 1941, honors the athletic display in the Mexican capital from Nov. 4 to Nov. 20 and commemorates the Mexican revolution of 1910 which unseated the unpopular, Diaz.

Diaz was president for almost 30 years and ruled with an iron fist. In 1908 Francisco I. Madero was nominated by the anti-revolutionists, but arrested for sedition in June, 1910. Escaping to Texas, he issued a plan for agrarian reforms in addition to political reforms, and the aspect of the revolution was changed from a political one to a social one.

The proposed revisions in the agrarian setup caught the fancy of the peasants and they elected Madero president on his return to Mexico.

Madero's tenure of office was brief, however, and he gave way to Huerta.

Shipyards Need Men At Once

Welders -- Marine Electricians -- Shipfitters

$1.12 to $1.75 Per Hour

Is Being Paid Properly Trained Shipfitters and Welders!

Why Earn Less?

Inexperienced Men - - Must Be American Citizens, White, Ages 18 to 60

Inexperienced men who pass certain qualifications, will be accepted for training in Electric Welding, Marine Electricity, or Shipfitting and Layout Work. These men must finance themselves through the few weeks of training necessary to enable them to go to work immediately upon completion of training, at following wages:

WELDERS or SHIPFITTERS & LAYOUT MEN
$1.12 Per Hour To Start
Overtime: Time-and-a-half.

MARINE ELECTRICIANS
$1.75 Per Hour To Start
Overtime: Time-and-a-half.

The Many-Billion-Dollar Shipbuilding Program Assures Competent Men Steady Work for Many, Many Years to Come!

Why Inexperienced Men Are Being Accepted for Training--

MIGHTIEST SHIPBUILDING PROGRAM IN HISTORY

The thousands of ships sunk since the war started has resulted in an acute shortage of cargo vessels. This shortage, together with the increasing need for hundreds of naval craft, as well as the necessity of rebuilding our Merchant Marine, made necessary the government's appropriation of billions of dollars for the mightiest shipbuilding program in history.

It takes time and skill to build a ship. Ships cannot be turned out in assembly-line fashion. Present-day warships are immensely more intricate and costly than their World War prototypes. In building a destroyer, for example, it takes a crew of 1,000 men-hours per pound of material required where one sufficed in 1918. The average cargo vessel requires from 1 to 2 years to construct; destroyers 2 1/2 to 3 years; battleships take from 3 to 4 years to build.

The biggest headache for the shipbuilders is the lack of skilled workmen. Inexperienced men cannot build ships. Untrained men are not wanted. The total ship production in 1941 was 1,000,000 tons. But the 1942 program calls for eight times as much: 8,000,000 tons! Therefore, to enable the shipbuilding industry to get into full swing, many thousands of additional men must be trained immediately.

Training of Only 8 Weeks Necessary.

Men for average intelligence, mechanically inclined, without any previous experience, if accepted for training, can be taught shipfitting and layout work or electric welding in 8 to 10 weeks. This training enables them to start working at $1.12 per hour, with time-and-a-half for overtime. Shipbuilders are working three shifts daily. Men working the second shift receive 10 per cent more, and those working the third shift receive 15 per cent more per hour than the day-shift workers.

Upon employment, men may attend night-training classes in mechanics, drafting, engineering, etc., without cost to prepare themselves for promotion into higher positions. Opportunities for advancement are practically unlimited for ambitious men.
